INTRODUCING EDWARD

TOOLS FOR LOCAL DEVELOPMENT OF MICROSERVICES

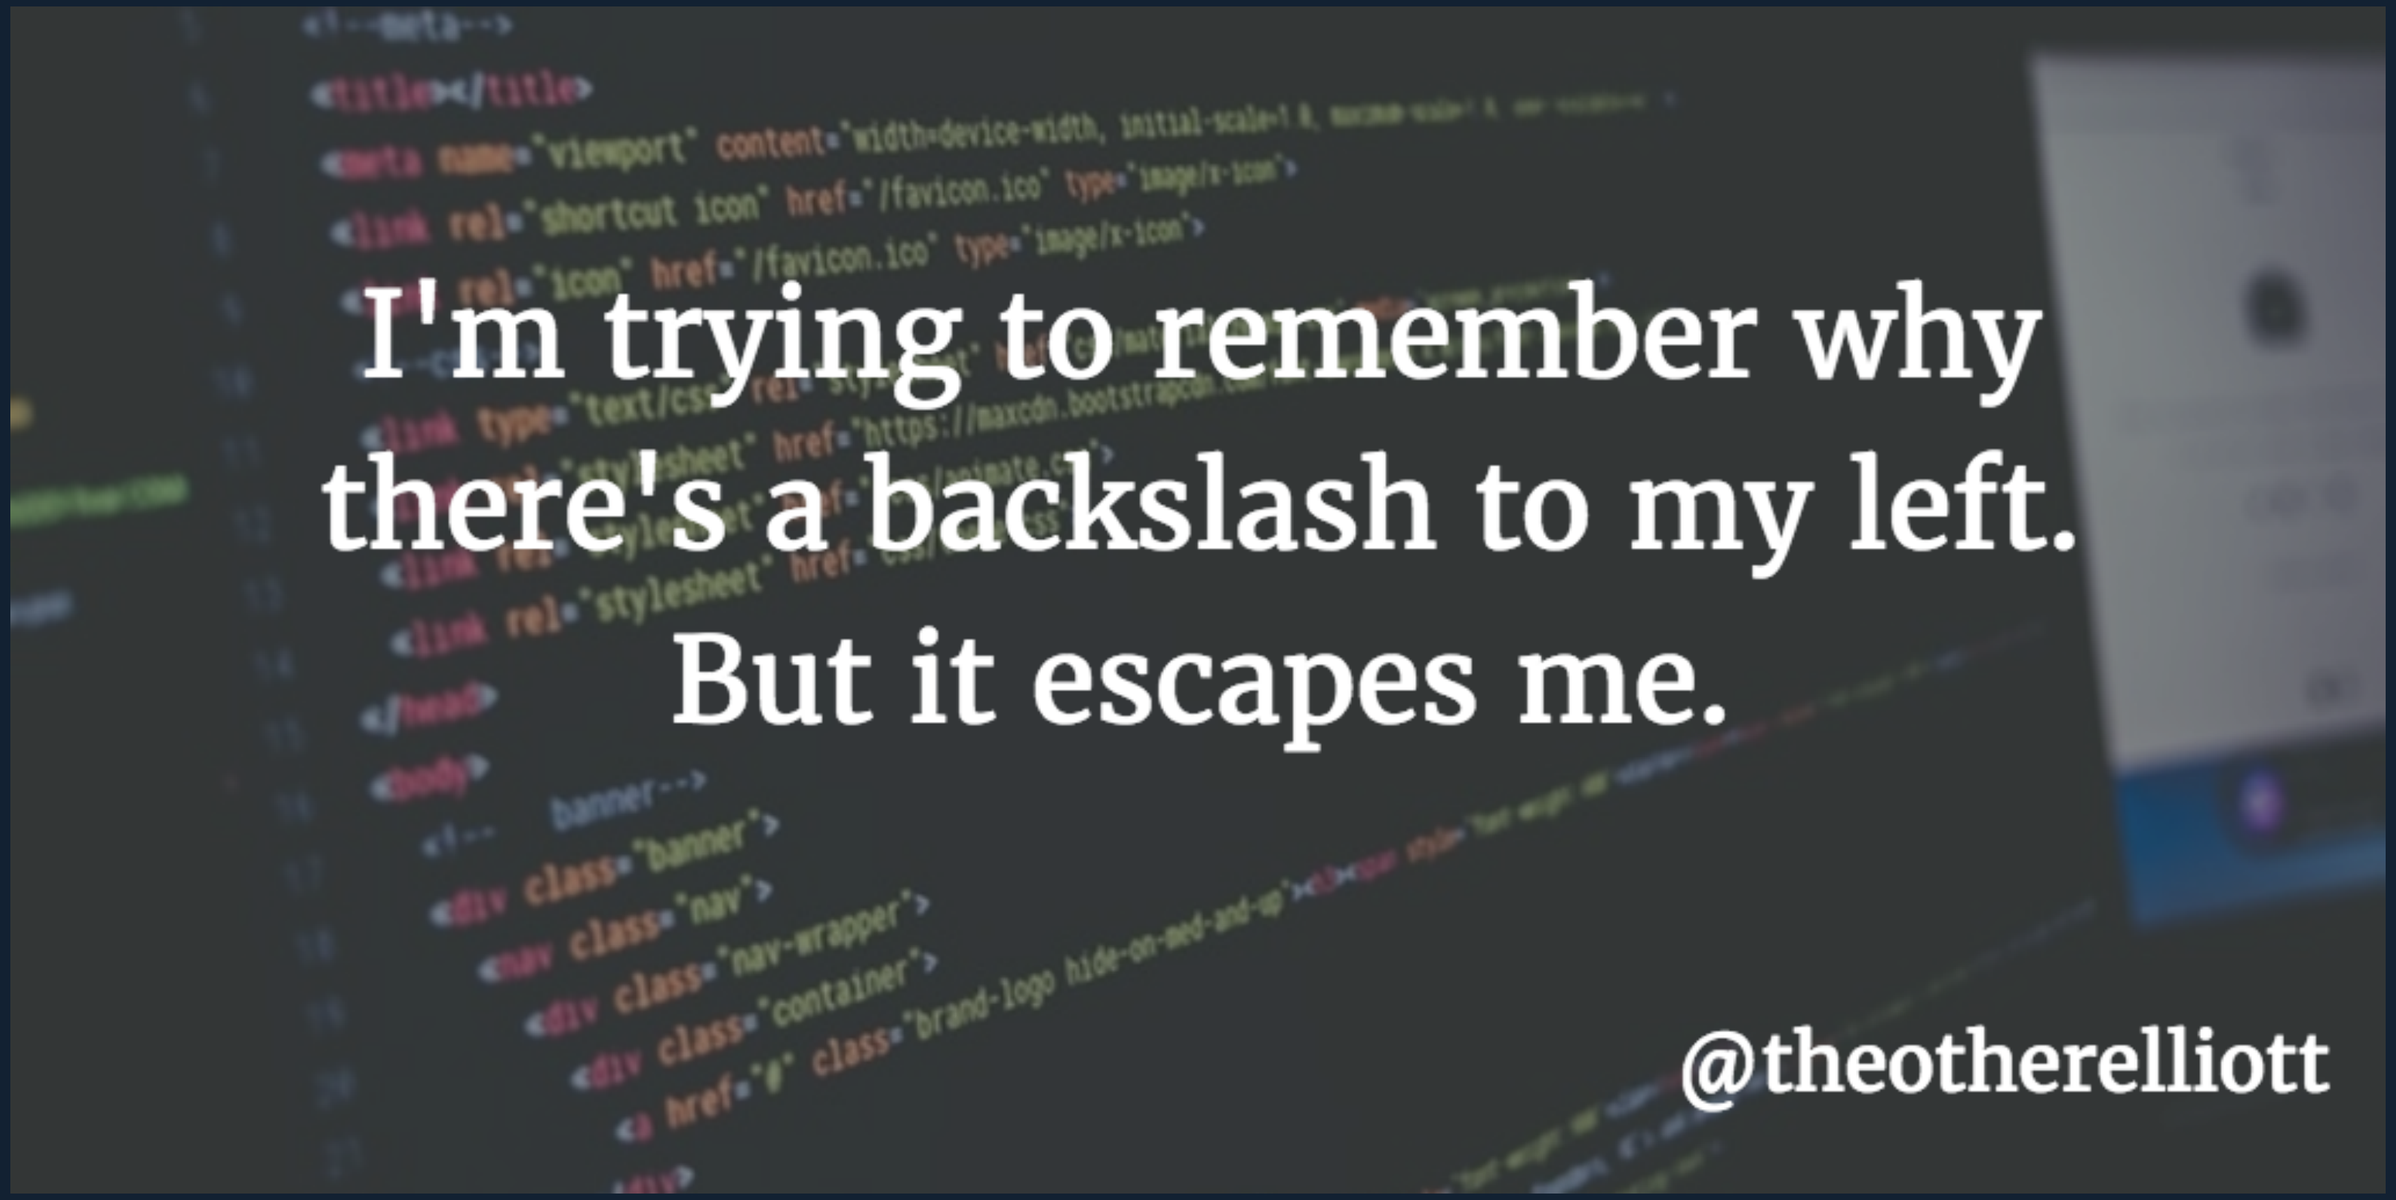
ABOUT ME

» Tom Elliott

» Area Tech Lead @ Yext

» https://github.com/theothertomelliott

» https://telliott.io



I'm trying to remember why there's a backslash to my left.
But it escapes me.
@theotherelliott

ABOUT YEXT

» Digital Knowledge Management

» Approx 100 engineers

» 200+ microservices in Java & Go

» http://www.yext.com

» http://github.com/yext

» http://engblog.yext.com/

WHAT IS EDWARD?

» Microservices manager for development

» Builds and runs microservices locally

» Implemented in Go

» Open Source

https://github.com/yext/edward

WHAT IS EDWARD?

» Mac OS & Linux Support

» Install/update via go get

```
$ go get -u github.com/yext/edward
```

WHY EDWARD?

FEATURES

» Build & launch services with one command

» Group services to launch full features/products at once

» Generate config automatically for new services

» Autorestart on source changes

» "Warm up" services on start

» Update notification

DEMO

DEMO REPO AT

https://github.com/theothertomelliott/edward-example

TRY IT OUT / CONTRIBUTE

```
$ go get -u github.com/yext/edward
```

» Docs: http://engblog.yext.com/edward/

» https://github.com/yext/edward